

The Old Women's Curse by Kayla

Once upon a time there was an old lady's curse and she went outside and then she went on the ocean and all of the sudden the old lady looked up and the sky turned gray and she was cooking soup and then she looked back and then the house was on fire and she ran and ran and she got into her house and she tried to make the fire stop but it got worse and then she tried to get out and then there was no way to go and then the old lady died and she went to heaven with all of the angels and lived happily ever after
The End

The Old Woman by Lionel

Once upon a time an old woman was cursed she was sleeping a storm came her house was on fire lightning struck. smoke everywhere clouds formed she screamed AHH fire she screamed. She had died because she was burned she flew to heaven. She was bad in heaven so she got sent to the devil's house she worked there 7,000,000 years she was back alive again she lived happily ever after.

THE END

The Old Woman's Curse by Carlos R.

once upon a time there was an old woman that she was sleeping in the daylight. Then suddenly it turned dark. Then the old woman's house got on fire and the old lady tried to get out of the house, but lightning went on the door. Clouds formed into more darkness. The old woman tried to roll, but she couldn't. The old woman died and she went to heaven.

The End

The old woman's curse by Diana

Once upon a time, it was daylight and an old woman was stealing gold from the prince she became very tired and slept in the old Queen's bed. The next morning when she went to her house, it was on fire. She was cursed from the Gods because she stole the prince's gold. She had to figure out what to do with the gold or she will have to live in the fire in her house for eternity. She traveled far to give back the gold. Her gift is to die and fly through night sky and into heaven. She lived happily and had all the gold she wanted.

THE END.