

The Legend of Love by Tanairy

Once upon a time there was a princess walking through an arch. She was walking through a meadow with pink flowers. The next day she had gone swimming but along the way she met a prince. The prince and the princess got to know each other better. The next day they were in a field and the prince asked: Will you marry me? And she said yes!

They got married on a beach through an arch. They got a huge castle that took up most of the land. They went together to Hawaii. One day they came across a volcano. They went through the volcano and came across some diamonds. They became richer than before. They got a new castle and it was bigger than before. A few weeks later they had lit a candle and nobody was paying attention to it and lit the house on fire.

The Royal Legend by Moises

Once upon a time there was a prince walking under a bridge. He crossed a colorful meadow and he swam through a river. He met a princess. They got to know each other and the prince asked the princess to marry him. The princess said yes. They both lived in a house and they got a sunny vacation to Hawaii. They went in a volcano and got diamonds then they saw a lion. The prince owned the lion. Then they lived in a house and they lived together. And somebody lit a candle. It dropped and the house went on fire. They both died.

The Princess who Died by Xiomara

Once upon a time there was a princess who walked under a bridge. It led to a meadow of pink flowers then the meadow led to the river. On the other side of the river was a prince. That prince helped the princess over to the other side. After they got to know each other he proposed to her he asked to marry her. Then they moved together. Then after 2 weeks they went on a vacation to Hawaii and they lived in a new house. The princess turned on a candle and the house went on fire.
